OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

SOME OF OUR "CONstant readers" (to coin a phrase) give us a bad time once in a while because this column does not describe the serious world problems that face us.

Others claim it does not sound profound enough.

Still others claim we seem to be typing it with our tongue in our cheek. (That's not too difficult to do. It's not like having only one hand.)

But after the x-number of years that we have been turning out this column for better or worse, we have become more or less immune to comments about it.

We go along our own merry way. We thrive on the most universal criticism that is leveled, to wit; "it sounds just like the guy".

That, friends, is the nicest thing anyone can say about it.

In fact there are hundreds of erstwhile authors who make a reasonable living in the word mill who would love to have that said about their output.

So there now.

SPEAKING OF THE word mill, we were sort of overwhelmed the other day with the stack of news releases we received from U.S. Senator Allan Cranston.

Receiving news releases from political office holders is not an unusual experience, as most of you are well aware.

BUT getting six in one mail delivery is a little much, we thought.

The sad part of it was that, although we glanced at all six of the literary gems that emanated from Cranston's office, we did not use a single paragraph from the whole kit and caboodle.

The releases, by the way, are the handiwork of Murray Flander, a former editor and publisher of the Coalinga Record, a community newspaper in the San Joaquin Valley.

We are not finding fault with our contemporary's production or ability.

That's for sure.

But we wish that if Murray is going to send us all that stuff, there would be something that we can use.

-0-

THIS AGAIN HAS NOthing to do with anything in particular but we got a charge out of a recent printing job that Brent turned out in the back shop.

It was for a tree surgery outfit in Saratoga.

The firm is located on "TWIG LANE".

We thought that was apropos.

It is something like the new office that is being constructed for Colonial Savings & Loan Association at the city limits of Campbell.

The office is located on Winchester Blvd. and, of course, COLONIAL WAY, a street that has been in existence for some time.

When these things occur, we always wonder which comes first – the chicken or the egg.

IN THIS ISSUE ON THE editorial page we are paying our respects to Larry Hill who is retiring in June as superintendent of the high school district after 22 years on the job.

Friday has been proclaimed officially by the City Council as "Laurance J. Hill Day" and on Friday evening approximately 600 people will attend a dinner in his honor.

Too often the achievements of an individual are not cited until that person succumbs. This is most unfortunate as the person most concerned is not in any position then to hear the fine things that are being said about him.

In Larry's case, however, his pending retirement gives us an excuse to cite his achieve-

Priorities for street jobs concern Council

How to establish priorities for the improvements of streets from bond money voted in Oct. 1967 is a ticklish question that cropped up at the City Council meeting Monday night.

Primarily the issue centers around the point of whether the intent of a somewhat ambiguous city policy is to give residential streets preference over industrial streets in getting city financial assistance.

A unique one-third, two-thirds formula was developed at the time of the bond issue, basically to spread the $800,000 bond funds as far as possible.

Under this formula, the city has agreed to put up two-thirds of a cost of a street project, if the property owners involved underwrite one-third of the cost.

The issue now before the City Council is to determine whether the intent of policy applies equally to the improvement of industrial streets and residential streets.

Councilman Bill Smeed, who just completed a term as mayor, maintained that industrial streets should be given the same treatment as residential. He emphasized the im-

GAVEL EXCHANGE—Bill Smeed, (left), who served as mayor of the City of Campbell for the past year, on Monday night turned his gavel of office over to Homer Hyde who was named mayor for the next year by his fellow councilmen. Hyde served as vice-mayor last year.

Since 1966 it has been the policy of the council to shift the mayor's gavel every year with the vice-mayor stepping up. Dean Chamberlin was elected vice-mayor on Monday. Hyde became this city's 10th mayor.

City may pay for dam lights

Water falling on the new 80-foot Lower Page Dam soon to be constructed by the Santa Clara Flood Control District will present a glistening sight at night to motorists on the Highway 17, if present plans are carried out.

According to the district engineers, following the suggestion made by Campbell councilmen some time ago, current plans call for six floodlights on the dam.

But the Council was informed Monday night that the district will pay only for the inserts and the conduit. The City of Campbell is expected to pay for the fixtures, the hookup and the power used.

The councilmen on Monday agreed to pick up the tab for the lights estimated to cost about $1000.

After all, it was their idea in the first place.

City Council approves Camden for mobile home park site

By a unanimous vote on Monday night the City Council officially designated Camden Ave. as a street on which mobile home parks can be located.

Under city ordinance, mobile home parks can only be placed on designated streets and Camden Ave. was not one of those thoroughfares until Monday night.

The Planning Commission by a 3-2 vote previously had approved the designation, the first step necessary before a mobile home park can be built on the Los Gatos Creek bank. The parcel is Western Gravel property that has been recently filled.

Doug Beatty, of Western Gravel, told the Council that access to Camden will be provided through property that has recently been acquired by his firm. He said that it was felt that a mobile home operation was the best use that the property along the creek could have and that his firm had studied many ideas before deciding on it.

Keith Wiggins, who plans to build the operation, explained that it would be landscaped and be an attractive sight from the freeway. He added that there would be 118 spaces on the 15-acre plot.

James Boccardo, prominent San Jose attorney, and one of the owners of the former Western Gravel operation now merged with Conmat, was present also at the meeting, adding that 205 trees had already been planted along the creek for screening.

The matter did not come up to bat on the lengthy council agenda until 11:30 p.m.

The Planning Commission will act on the use permit request for the mobile home park at the next meeting.

IT'S THE "SHASTA DAISY"– On Monday night the Campbell City Council adopted the "Shasta Daisy" as the official city flower upon the recommendation of the Campbell Citizens for Beautification. Mrs. Ruth Hartman (above), vice-chairman of the beautification committee, made the presentation to the City Council. Mrs. Jeanette Watson, chairman of the committee, is recuperating at home from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Craig Morton appears

Little League begins 1969 play

A former All-American, and now a professional football player with the Dallas Cowboys, "starred" again in Campbell last Saturday when he tossed the first ball to open the 1969 Little League season at the Rosemary field. (Pictured above. That's John Bingham behind the plate.)

Morton started his athletic career as a little leaguer on the same diamond in 1955 and starred in both baseball and football at Campbell High before going on to Cal where he earned All-American honors.

More than 450 boys are participating in the three leagues (majors, minors and peewees) that are under the direction of the Campbell league and a good-sized crowd of parents and well-wishers were on hand Saturday to launch the season (top photo).

Directly below Morton is pictured, speaking to the youngsters, another star at the opening was Don Larson, of no-hit fame of the New York Yankees.

Invocation at the ceremonies was given by Father John Lally of St. Lucy's and Lou Ferrari, league president introduced the guests, which included school trustees, Neal Royer, superintendent of schools, Fire Chief George Maxwell, and Police Chief John Morgan.

Present also were Morton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Morton of Campbell and Merv Willoughby, who managed the team on which Craig played in the Campbell Little League in 1955.

Civic dinner this Friday honors Larry Hill

Approximately 600 people are expected to attend the recognition dinner for Laurance J. (Larry) Hill this Friday, May 2, at Lou's Village.

Hill is retiring on June 30, 1969 after 22 years as superintendent of the Campbell Union High School District and 37 years as an educator.

State, county and local officials will participate in the program that will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The City Council on Monday night officially proclaimed Friday, May 2 as "Laurance J. Hill Day" in the City of Campbell. A resolution to that effect will be presented to Hill that evening, along with the many other awards that he will receive.

Dr. Charles R. Timpany, former county superintendent of schools, is the dinner committee chairman and will introduce Dr. William B. Sweeney, of San Jose State College, who will be master of ceremonies.

The high school district's faculty men's chorus and the district's honor choir will furnish music for the dinner and the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell, will give the invocation.

Public and professional associates of Hill during the many years he has served as an educator will be represented at the dinner. Dr. Nicholas Montesano, who will succeed Hill as district superintendent, will make a special presentation to his retiring "chief".

Hill, who was born in San Jose, received his A. B. degree from San Jose State and his masters from Stanford.

He served as a teacher, vice-principal and principal in the San Jose Unified School District, before coming to Campbell in 1946 as principal-superintendent of the high school district which, at that time, had only one school.

Hill guided the district through a tremendous expansion program which saw the district grow from one school to the nine that are operating today.

During his years in Campbell, Hill took an active part in civic affairs. He served as president of the Campbell Kiwanis Club and also president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Countywide he was president of the council for the Boy Scouts of America and was also active in the Red Cross.

He has held many offices on a local, county, regional and statewide basis in various professional associations of which he has been a member for many years.

The recognition dinner this Friday will touch on some of the highlights of Hill's lifetime of service.

In one of the main features of the program, Emerson M. (Doc) Arends, long-time member of the Campbell Union High School District board of trustees, will describe Hill's activities over the years under the heading of "The Job That Took a Lot of Doing".

Citizen park bond committee needs $$$ help for campaign

Postmaster Jim Hurley, chairman of the finance committee for the Campbell Citizens for Parks, the group formed to spearhead the drive for the $625,000 city park bond issue at the election on June 10, appealed this week for contributions.

Hurley asked that contributions be sent to Campbell Citizens for Parks, P. O. Box 92, Campbell, Calif. 95008.

Hurley said that the Campbell Municipal Employees Association, (Dave Valkenaar, president) had endorsed the bond issue by resolution and had contributed $50.

The postmaster said that, in addition to the employees association, 11 other firms or individuals had contributed to date and that the committee gratefully acknowledge these donations.

Those contributing included Floyd M. Little (A&W Drive-In), 2145 Winchester Blvd.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blaine, 91 S. Fourth; Mrs. Fred Smith, 12764 Saratoga Ave., Saratoga; Kilroy Pest Control (Phillip Olavarri), 1175 Dell Ave.; Wells Fargo Bank, Campbell; D. W. Dorrance Co., Inc., 541 Division St.; H. A. Editorial

Outstanding record

This Friday evening (May 2) several hundred citizens of the area will honor Laurance J. Hill, retiring superintendent of the Campbell Union High School District, at a community dinner.

Hill will retire on June 30 after 22 years of service to the district, which during his tenure of office has grown from a one-school operation to the nine that are in the district today.

That's quite an expansion in any league, especially when it is pointed out that most of the growth took place in about a 12-year span (1955-1967). But Hill took it in stride, hardly without missing a step.

It has been our considered opinion for many years that Larry Hill should be rated as one of the top school administrators in the state. This community dinner on Friday is just one small bit of evidence to indicate that many others share our point of view.

We think it is especially fitting also that the Campbell City Council has proclaimed by suitable resolution that Friday, May 2, is "Laurance J. Hill Day" in the City of Campbell, for he is well-deserving of such an honor.

There is a danger in an editorial such as this commending an individual that it begins to sound like an obituary.

The reason for that, of course, is obvious. There seems to be a tendency to wait until a person passes away before citing the outstanding achievements of that person's career.

Fortunately, in Larry's case his retirement gives us an excuse to point with pride to his record as a school administrator and to show our appreciation for a job well done for the Campbell district.

"Retiring", of course, for Hill is sort of a misstatement.

He is leaving school work but it is almost impossible to visualize that guy "retiring" in the strict sense of the word.

His ability; his energy; his initiative and his pure "know how" are of such value that "retirement" per se would be sort of silly for him.

But that's not the point of this editorial. That's in the future. Here we are giving credit to an outstanding record made by a high school district superintendent over a 22-year span.

Knowing Larry as we do, he probably would prefer that there would be no fanfare or flourishes about his retirement and, of course, no editorial either.

But we think you should know (and also Hill) that The Campbell Press appreciates what Larry Hill has accomplished for the school district and for his community.

And we don't mind one bit putting our opinion down on paper.

We are well aware that there have been critics and criticism of Hill's administration.

Ye gods, what would you expect?

But Hill's overall worth has been proved time and time again.

And, you know something else, the record of the school system itself during the past 22 years, is a mighty fine legacy which anyone would be proud to pass on.

So, congratulations, Larry, for a job well done.

The editor and publisher of The Press is proud to join with his fellow citizens in paying our respects to Larry Hill on his "day".

And we don't mind doing it a bit.

This brings to mind that recently another civic leader in town was surprised by a commendation he received of which he had no prior knowledge.

At a recent board meeting of the Methodist Church, the chairman of the board read a letter from Neal Royer, president of the CofC, in which were listed the many community services that had been rendered by the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould over the years and commending him on behalf of the CofC and the entire community.

The letter had not come across Ben's desk so he was totally unprepared for it.

He was speechless which, for him, is something else again.

But it couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

We echo the sentiments expressed in the letter. Ben's value to this community is unestimable.

A NUMBER OF RESIdents on streets east of Bascom (Ridgeley, Fewtrell and McBain) have expressed some concern over what the future holds for their streets trafficwise when Bascom is widened and "The Prune Yard" and "The Towers" are completed at Bascom and Campbell avenues.

One story that went the rounds of the neighborhood recently was that Fewtrell and McBain would be blocked off at Bascom and that a traffic light would be installed at Ridgeley and Bascom.

According to Bill Wren, public works director who, incidentally, will be out of commission for a few weeks recovering from minor surgery, there is no basis for such a proposal as far as his department is concerned.

But Bill, too, is somewhat cautious.

He admits that no one at this time is in a position to even hazard a guess of what the future holds as far as what traffic will be generated by the "new" Bascom and the shopping center or how it will affect the side streets.

The idea then that McBain and Fewtrell will be blocked off and a traffic signal go on Ridgeley is not an "official" projection but conceivably one that could have been developed by almost any one in discussions about future traffic conditions.

In other words, one guess is as good as another.

There just might be some merit to it, however.

But there we go. We are guessing too.

INCIDENTALLY, Ridgeley Drive during blossom time presented one of the most attractive settings in town.

It brought back fond memories of the past when Santa Clara Valley was noted far and wide for its beauty during blossom time.

People would come from all over to view the blossoms bursting into bloom in the hundreds of orchards that dotted the valley floor.

It was a beautiful sight.

So tree-lined Ridgeley (as was the case in many other streets in this "Orchard City") was sort of a mini-flashback to those pre-asphalt days.

STORIES OF "THE TOWers" – As we write this we have just counted the stories that are now "up" for "The Towers" on Campbell Ave. just off Bascom.

It comes to five.

Unless we have missed in our figuring, that makes that steel framework the highest spot in town.

And there are 13 more stories yet to soar into the air!

We freely admit that this small town boy is completely intrigued by the construction of the mammoth tower which will stretch almost 250-feet into the atmosphere when completed.

Thayer Lyons, superintendent for the Pete Cristich company that has the cement contract for the job, informs us that an estimated 3500 cubic yards of cement will be needed for the building.

He said also that 1000 cubic yards are used in the underground work and which "tied" together the 24 columns.

We have been planning a "big" cement project for our backyard.

One cubic yard is all that we will need.

Next question.

Committee names fire training officer to replace Jerry Gomes

On June 1, Richard J. Bosted, of Brea, Calif., a veteran of 14 years of fire service will become Fire Training Officer of the Campbell Fire Department.

Bosted was selected by a special personnel screening committee from a long list of applicants to replace Jerry Gomes who resigned to enter private business.

Bosted is now fire suppression captain and engineer company officer in the Brea Fire Department which he joined in 1965 after serving for 10 years with the Compton department.

Bosted is now instructing in the fire academy for recruits in Orange County and also at Santa Ana College. He holds a State of California teaching credential for fire science in junior colleges. He attended Los Angeles Harbor College, Mt. San Antonio and Santa Ana College.

portance of the industrial area to the overall fiscal position of the city.

Councilman Ed Rogers, however, indicated that he felt the intent was fundamentally to take care of the rundown residential streets first and the industrial streets would have to wait.

No action was taken on the issue Monday night.

The Council decided to follow the suggestion of Councilman Dean Chamberlin that all facets of the situation should first be explored by the staff, including the cost of a proposed industrial street improvement; the possibility of the success of a local improvement district for the area and what residential streets were ready to go under the formula.

The matter came to bat at the Council meeting on a written request from Sterling Homes, Inc., recent purchasers of the property and building owned by 777 Lock & Engineering Co., at 477 Division Street (Dell and Division).

The firm through its president, H. Arthur Nottingham, is asking the city to improve the street around the property immediately as the "restrictive zoning of this land is not compatible with the condition of the street in this area".

The letter referred to a $7000 bond which had been deposited with the city by the previous owner for street improvements, if a local improvement district could not be formed.

The city engineering staff, it was explained at the Council meeting, has not yet been able to put a LID together in the area.

And that's when the concept of the bond issue came into the limelight.

If the LID is not formed, should city bond money be used to improve the industrial street?

It was estimated that the street job could cost around $100,000 and the city's share would be considerably more than if a local improvement district was formed. The issue comes up again next meeting.

Church women lose purses to thieves

Purses left unguarded in two Campbell churches, had their contents lifted during the week by bold thieves who apparently were aware of the tendency of church women to be trusting souls and leave purses unattended.

Methodist women lost contents valued at $154.23 after their purses were left in the office of the First United Methodist Church, during the weekday and a suspect walked in asking to "use the restroom".

At the Congregational Church of Campbell, three trusting women left their purses in the kitchen while they attended Sunday services, and came back to find their wallets removed.

Earl's Transmission, 901 Camden Ave. was the latest victim of the "prying burglar" who apparently specializes in prying open businesses after closing hours and helping himself to valuables. In this case the burglar was very selective and took only three Chrysler V-8 transmissions valued at $375.

FORMAL OPENING---On Monday of this week the Youth Employment Service (YES) office was officially opened in the Chamber of Commerce suite at 100 W. Rincon. Judy Ann Rothwell, (above) the student director of the office, attempted to christen the new headquarters by breaking a bottle of ginger ale over the sign (the bottle didn't break) held by the somewhat shaky Jim O'Brien, of the Bank of America, and a member of the CofC committee. On Monday the City Council proclaimed April 28-May 2 as Campbell Youth Employment Week. The office at the CofC is now open from 3 to 5 p.m.

The regional board's office is located in Oakland from where the executive officer and engineering staff operates.

Bonacina gets national office

City Attorney Joseph A. Bonacina has been named vice-chairman of the National Municipal Law Officers Institute's Committee on Inter-Municipal Cooperation, it was reported this week.

Announcement of the appointments was recently made from NIMLO headquarters at Washington, D. C.

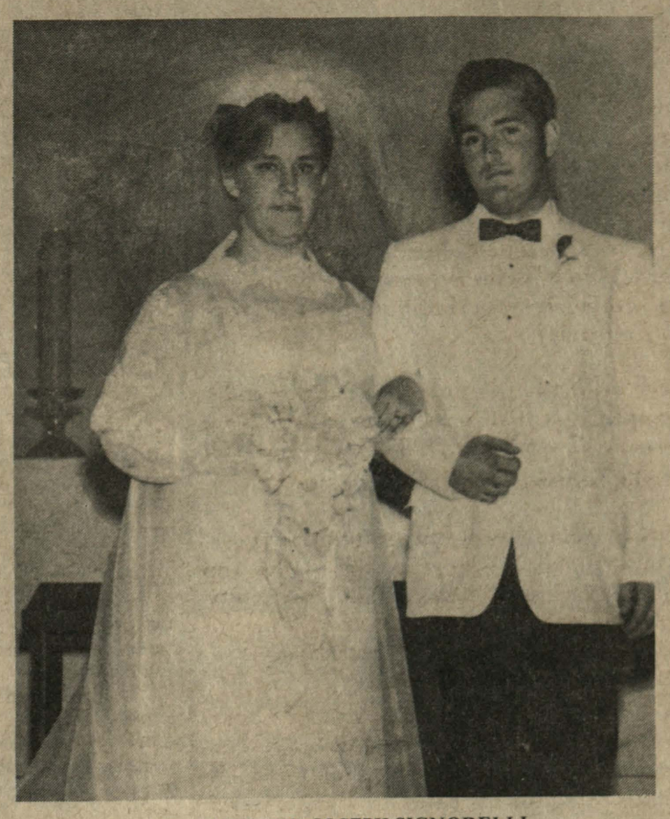
Wedding Vows Exchanged



MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH SIGNORELLI

An elegant skimmer gown of silk organza and French re-embroidered Alencon lace was chosen by Susan J. Andrewjeski for her bridal gown when she became the bride of Joseph John Signorelli in a double ring ceremony held recently at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Saratoga. The Rev. Jerry Drino officiated at the afternoon service.

A stand-up yoke neckline of Alencon lace accented the lined gown and long Bishop sleeves. Delicate lace appliques detailed the front of the gown and etched train hemline. The train was detachable and watteaued from mid-back into a chapel sweep. An organza and lace spray held her four-tiered bouffant veiling of silk illusion to complete her ensemble. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and roses centered with a white orchid.

Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Andrewjeski of 1796 Villarita Dr., Campbell. A Campbell High School graduate, she attended West Valley College before her marriage.

Pink and mint green were the colors chosen for the attendants with Miss Rosemarie Saporito in floor-length pink and carrying a cascade of mint green carnations. Gowned in mint green and carrying pink carnation cascades were Francine Kessler and Diane C. Andrewjeski. The identical gowns of corded organza were fashioned with empire bodices, Venice lace mandarin necklines and long Bishop sleeves. They wore matching colored spray caplets adorned with matching colored demi-veils to complete their ensembles.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Andrewjeski wore a beige dress with a matching lace coat, orange accessories, and a corsage of orange-tipped carnations.

Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frank Signorelli of Blossom Hill Road. He was graduated from Camden High School and attended San Jose City College. Standing as best man was David A. Taylor and Bill Shahinian and Stanley Joseph served as ushers.

A floral print dress with a blue chiffon overskirt and blue accessories was worn by Mrs. Signorelli, with an accent corsage of blue carnations.

Following the ceremony the newly-weds greeted their guests at a champagne reception held at the bride's home, which was decorated with champagne glass favors. For their wedding trip to Carmel the new Mrs. Signorelli wore a two-piece beige ensemble.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Signorelli are now making their home in the Campbell area.

City employees enjoy "Spring Fling" evening

An enjoyable evening of dining and dancing was had last Saturday night by 81 members and guests of the Campbell Municipal Employees Association.

"Spring Fling" was the theme of the semi-formal affair which was held at the Villa Felice and the main and only purpose was to "have a good time". The spring dinner dance has been held for the last several years in lieu of a Christmas party, and has proved to be a very successful affair. Paul Schoomer served as chairman and the distributor of several door prizes.

Distinguished guests of the employees association included Councilmen Dean Chamberlin, William Smeed and Edward J. Rogers and their wives; Dorothy Trevethan, Campbell City Clerk, and City Manager and Mrs. Robert Stephens, who incidently were quietly celebrating their 28th wedding anniversary.

A family picnic is planned by the association for the summer months. Dave Valkenaar is president of the association.

PHARMACY PHACTS

By Allan Blaine

Varicose veins are swollen, enlarged veins, usually caused by leaking valves. When normal, these valves keep the blood from flowing backward on the return trip to the heart. When defective they leak, allowing the blood to flow backwards and increasing pressure in the veins, which become stretched and swollen.

* * *

People who stand are more likely to get varicose veins, because the pressure is five times greater when standing than lying down.

* * *

Pregnant women are susceptible because of the increased abdominal pressure from the enlarged uterus, and greater bloodflow to and from the lower abdominal and pelvic areas.

* * *

Girdles and tight garters contribute, by obstructing the flow of blood and increasing pressure on the veins. Women shouldn't sit for any length of time in a girdle because the big veins in the legs are tightly constricted.

* * *

Support hose are helpful in mild cases, but should be fitted exactly to precise leg measurements. Bicycling exercises while lying on one's back are recommended, as are swimming and walking. For a complete line of support hosiery see us.

Maxi-Bed fits Mini-Room

Bedrooms have traditionally been the smallest rooms in the American home. The colonial houses were so poorly heated that in New England a small room was necessary to conserve heat. And in all parts of the country the bedroom was considered a necessity but not a luxury.

Early homes cold

Often in early American houses the bed was placed against the wall of a room usually used for something else and curtained off in the day time. Even later when larger houses were being built bedrooms were small because they were used only for sleeping and large rooms were unnecessary. As the family grew small rooms were added as they were needed. Even today some bedrooms are still small, reflecting the thinking of yesterday's architects. Only homes of the Victorian era sometimes had large bedrooms, and these were often short on wall space because of the frequent fireplaces, large windows and many doors.

Small bedrooms are the frequently used excuse for putting off the purchase of bedding that really fits the sleeper. If you are one of these, don't give up—with a little careful arranging a comfort size bed can be made to fit in a small room, and even allow plenty of room for other furniture!

Don't forget the wall type furniture units that can be built to fit the room and conserve floor space. These can have drawers, shelves, desks, etc. all built to fit and utilize every inch of space—

Better Homes & Gardens

A Living-Bedroom with storage space to spare. The compact wall unit is not only attractive but uses the space so well that there is plenty of room for a king-size bed, and two arm chairs and a desk for day around use.

Glue It Right

When it comes to gluing, most home handymen and their families stick to what they believe to be an "all-purpose" adhesive — for anything from broken furniture to scrapbooks.

But one glue can't do everything. Moreover, certain glues can bond some materials, but can actually be harmful to others.

Not one, but four basic types of adhesives — available for a modest investment — should be as common in the home workshop as a hammer and screwdriver. These include white glues, epoxy glues, contact cements and clear cements.

White Glues

White glues are the least expensive to use. They work well with wood, paper, cloth, leather, cardboard or cork. In use, they set fast, provide a strong bond and are neither toxic nor flammable.

Typical uses include scrapbook paste-ups, package sealing, woodworking (particularly chair rungs and legs), upholstery patching and patching wood veneers.

White glues do not work well with metals, common rubbers or many other nonporous materials such as plastics. Water, high humidity or heat may tend to weaken bonds.

Epoxy Glues

Epoxy glues are the strongest — and most expensive — glues available. They will bond most materials, including wood, cloth, glass, leather, hard plastics, masonry, metals and ceramics. The resulting joints are strong.

Most work does not require clamps, and epoxy joints resist moisture, heat and heavy loading.

Epoxy glues are ideal for fastening fixtures to ceramic-tiled walls, repairing jewelry, dishes or masonry; or for bonds requiring high strength.

Epoxies require mixing the adhesive and a hardening agent which acts fast, so the job must be completed almost immediately.

These glues do not work well with certain soft plastics or rubbers.

Contact Cement

Contact cement is the least expensive adhesive in large quantity (pints and quart cans). It provides an immediate bond (hence the name contact), requires no clamps and resists moisture, temperature extremes and fungus.

Its uses include most laminating wall tiles, paneling, felt work and luggage repair. It works well with wood, cloth, leather, some rubbers and plastics, ceramics and metals other than copper.

In use, it may be too weak for heavy loads, may discolor, is flammable and requires precise alignment of parts.

Clear Cements

Clear cements owe their name to the fact they dry clear and as such are desirable for repairing dishes, leather luggage, belts, shoes, book bindings, costume jewelry, models —and most items where the repaired seam will show.

As a class, clear cements resist water and work equally well with rigid or flexible joints.

One of the newer products, Scotch Super Strength, assures a bond that will survive a dishwasher.

Clear cements can be used with leather, paper, wood, glass, china, ceramics, metals. They are advisable for most general repairs, but heavy load-bearing bonds require a stronger epoxy glue.

The clear cements are flammable and can damage some fabrics and surfaces if spilled.

For all types of adhesives, these guidelines apply:

Read the manufacturer's instructions carefully.

If unsure of the materials being bonded, test a small area first.

Work in a well-ventilated space away from open flames.

Make sure surfaces to be joined are clean.

Test-align the parts before applying an adhesive.

Whatever type of glue is used, give it plenty of chance to dry.

If a less expensive glue will work, use it. Don't "overglue."

In choosing glues, the experience of the local hardware or building supply dealer can be used to advantage.

Manufacturers are doing their part by designing better packaging with clearer instructions.

The 3M Company, for instance, markets its consumer adhesives line in a self-service center, with several types of glue and helpful instructions for the user.

MIGHTY PROUD--Mrs. Gail Long, left, Campbell speech teacher and Robert Culp, Campbell high school principal, are mighty proud of the trophy won by Charlene Gates at the recent San Francisco Bay District tournament. Charlene qualified in extemporaneous speech and will participate in the National Forensic League speech tournament in Washington, D.C.

Campbell enters National tournament

Charlene Gates, a junior at Campbell High School, will compete with outstanding speakers from across the nation in June at the National Forensic League speech tournament in Washington, D.C.

This is the second consecutive year that Campbell High School has qualified for this tournament of champions. At last year's tournament, Campbell ranked fifth in the nation. Charlene qualified in extemporaneous speaking at the San Jose Bay District tournament which includes schools from Monterey to San Francisco. There are only six other extemporaneous speakers from the state of California who will also achieve this honor.

This is only one of many honors which Charlene has accrued. She has also qualified for the California State Speech Tournament and last summer she was chosen as the most valuable debater at the University of Pacific Summer Institute.

The National Tournament will be conducted at George Washington University and will last six days. Charlene will also enter Original Oratory. After the tournament, she plans to attend a debate institute at Georgetown University in preparation for next year's speech activities.

Charlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Gates of 4539 Student Lane. She will be accompanied to Washington, D.C. by Mrs. Gail Long, Campbell speech teacher and director of forensic activities.

BPW installs Mrs. Trevethan as president

DOROTHY TREVETHAN

Dorothy Trevethan was installed as president of the Campbell Business and Professional Women's Club at their 21st anniversary dinner held recently at the Red Coach Inn.

Mrs. Trevethan, who is the club's current Woman of the Year, has served as Campbell City Clerk since 1952.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Olivia Jacobson, Peninsula District President who commended outgoing president Verna Miller for her highly successful efforts in bringing the Campbell club membership up to 23, and thus retaining their membership charter.

Mrs. Anamae Pereira received a gold membership card for her successful recruitment of five new members, during the recruitment campaign. The newest member of the Campbell BPW club, Mrs. Catherine Green, personnel assistant, City of Campbell, was initiated in ceremonies preceding the installation.

Other new officers for the year include Nadene Coles, first vice president; Carolyn Winter, second vice president; Sue Thomas, recording secretary; Phyllis Acker, corresponding secretary and Elsie Tressler, treasurer.

During the business meet the club voted unanimously to endorse the Campbell city park bond issue which will be voted on June 10, 1969.

Mrs. Ribble finds old craft fascinating

One of the most satisfying hobbies, and most productive in terms of usable products, is the craft of weaving.

Weaving is one of the oldest of all crafts, and yet still has a living, growing, interest for people as evidenced by three active weavers guilds in the immediate area, the Glenna Harris Guild, The Los Gatos Weavers and the Mission Weavers. Both men and women are enjoying creating with their looms, and one of the new members of the Glenna Harris Guild is Mrs. David (Libby) Ribble.

Mrs. Ribble is so enthused about the joy of achievement to be found in the weaving craft that she was willing to share her enthusiasm with The Campbell Press. She also offered to assist anyone interested in learning about weaving with the basic knowledge and information she has gleaned from her association with the more established weavers. Weaving is not only productive but is also a valuable tool used for rehabilitation of disabled persons.

In order to house her hobby, Mrs. Ribble has had a "studio" built on the back of her lot at 197 Poplar. The large, sunny room, lit by windows on three sides is furnished with heirlooms which Mrs. Ribble has refinished, as well as housing her three looms. On the wonderful wide planked polished floor lies a gay scatter rug woven by Mrs. Ribble from scraps of wool yarn that had been in her family for many years.

The antique cash register that for so long was part of the Campbell Stationery store owned by herself and her husband before his death, rests on a renovated commode, a piece of furniture that was a part of every bedroom at the turn of the century. Mrs. Ribble stores her yarn supplies in a restored dresser; in the corner is an old fashioned cranked victrola and two lovely rockers, one upholstered in material woven by Mrs. Ribble, offer a place for visitors to relax.

A humped back trunk used in the family for "going off to college"; old bottles, an ancient shuttle; priceless family pictures on the wall and even an old kerosene lamp converted to electricity complete the room where a hobby can be pursued in tranquility.

Mrs. Ribble, who has gone back to the craft she was interested in 35 years ago, before family, teaching and business took her leisure time, has three looms. A large Harold loom on which she is currently weaving drapery material for her studio; a Swedish loom and a small folding portable loom, keep her busy.

On the small loom she is working on a wall hanging in which she is incorporating reeds, branches, bamboo and other outdoor memorabilia as can be woven into the piece, and which will serve to bring the outside "in".

Mrs. Ribble brought out that the three local guilds were formed for the study of weaving in all of its varied forms and for the stimulation of the members to higher creative achievements.

The guilds band together in regional groups and have conferences which put on exhibits of the members work, such as the Northern California Handweavers Conference which took place recently at Richmond.

Last year's Santa Clara County Fair goers may remember the fascinating silkworm exhibit which the Glenna Harris weavers used to demonstrate the weaving art and process from start of the raw material to the finished product.

Before a member can be accepted into the guild, a finished weaving product must be submitted for valuation by the Guild members. Active weavers are always welcome to visit guild meetings and apply for membership.

In Mrs. Ribble's back yard are more momentoes of other years such as an old hand plow and a primitive Indian loom, while in her home a burnished copper clothes boiler is used to hold pine cones by the fireplace and a lovely cut glass pitcher rests on an end table.

For those who might be thinking of the "retirement years" as years when idle hands will find nothing to do, they should visit Mrs. Ribble.

WEAVING CAN BE FASCINATING---Mrs. David Ribble is shown seated at her large Harold loom which is "dressed" to weave drapery material for her studio windows. In her right hand she holds the shuttle which is used to pull the thread between the various strands of thread.

The good old days.

What was so good about scrubbing clothes, stoking stoves, chopping wood, toting ice, belting rugs and pushing brooms?

It is one thing to admire the past, but quite another to put up with it.

Now you can relax while freezers freeze, cookers cook, dryers dry, washers wash, heaters heat, mixers mix, blenders blend and timers time. Gas and electric servants do most of your work for you.

We can't claim credit for inventing gas and electricity, but we can claim credit for good service at low rates. We do all we can to save you from the "good old days."

Gubser seeks space museum

Congressmen Charles S. Gubser (R-Gilroy) and Don Edwards (D-San Jose) have introduced a bill calling for a feasibility study of a major aerospace museum in the western United States.

The two Congressmen then began a campaign promoting the landmark dirigible hangar at Moffett Field as an ideal location for the museum.

Gubser and Edwards credited C. C. Kubokawa, a research scientist at Ames Research Center, with the original idea. Kubokawa has developed detailed plans for a self-supporting museum where aerospace artifacts would be displayed in the ancient and largely unused dirigible hangar.

Spectators would ride a full-sized gantry elevator to a catwalk on the hangar roof. From there visitors would spiral downward past numerous displays at various levels of the huge building.

A moon scape, full-size rockets and aircraft would be featured on the ground level. The movable hangar doors would enclose a large theater for motion pictures and aerospace and other technical meetings. The plan also includes a large aerospace library.

Benson will assist in getting the car ready for the famous brickyard. He has raced the dirt circuit in the past and plans to enter more such races in the future.

Benson, who manufactures midget race cars under the firm name of GMB Co., at 545 Westchester, Campbell, was an honored guest at the CofC luncheon last Thursday where he was presented a certificate of good wishes on behalf of the CofC by Mayor Homer Hyde (left, above).

Gubser sets date for exams for academies

Congressman Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif.) has announced that the Civil Service examination to select his appointees to U.S. military academies will be held on July 8.

Gubser announced that based upon the examination, vacancies will be filled at the United States Military Academy at West Point, the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, and the Naval Academy at Annapolis. In addition, he will nominate ten young men to compete for openings in the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York.

To be eligible for appointment, a candidate must be at least 17 years of age on July 1, 1970, but must not have reached the age of 22. Aside from the age requirements, any young man who is a citizen of the United States, unmarried, in good physical condition, and who has graduated from a secondary school, has the basic qualifications necessary for appointment.

Congressman Gubser's appointments are restricted by law to young men who are bona fide residents of the Tenth Congressional District, including northern, western and southern Santa Clara County and all of San Benito County.

Applications are now being accepted and MUST be received by June 2. Young men interested in competing in the July examination can secure the proper application form by writing to: CONGRESSMAN CHARLES S. GUBSER, 2373 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Gubser said, "I have visited all of our academies and believe they are unsurpassed as educational and character building institutions. An appointment is worth competing for and I urge all Junior and Senior men to apply."

Successful applicants will enter the academies on July 1, 1970.

West Valley Sports

BASEBALL

Holding third place in the Camino Norte Conference with a 9-8 record, the West Valley College Vikings will be looking for a winning season as they conclude league play this week with three games.

The big game will be on Saturday when the Vikings journey to DeAnza to challenge the loop leaders.

The Vikes lost a heartbreaker last weekend as Marin scored in the eleventh inning to post a 7-6 victory.

SWIM HONORS

While Foothill College took major honors by winning their eighth straight Northern California swimming and diving title, Ray Rivero of West Valley College seemed to crave a share of the spotlight as the freshman splashed to victories in the 200 and 400 individual medley events and a second in the 200 fly.

GOLF PLAY-OFF

For the sixth straight time this year the West Valley Vikings and DeAnza Dons will vie for a Camino Norte Championship.

WVC boasts an 8-1 CNC record with DAC on top with a 9-0 marking. The Vikings added their last two wins with an April 22 forfeit by Contra Costa and a victory Monday over Solano. The Vike linksmen will meet DAC on May 6 at the Riverside course.

Senior Citizens plan open house Sunday

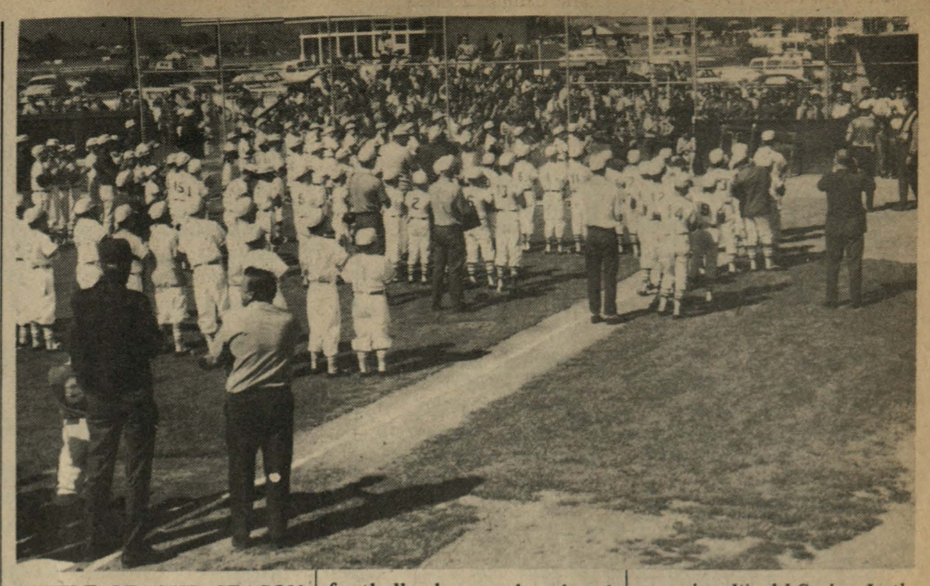
The month of May has been proclaimed Senior Citizens Month by the city of Campbell, and in honor of the occasion, the Senior Citizens Action Center will hold open house Sunday, May 4 from 2 to 4 p.m. at 51 W. Rincon next to the St. Lawrence Episcopal Church.

An invitation has been extended to the Campbell and Los Gatos city officials as well as state legislators and other interested citizens of the area. Senior citizens will be on hand to display their handiwork and that of their pupils. Among the work to be displayed will be rugs, ceramics and paintings, among them the work of Elizabeth Hubbard including her "Five Moods" which will be displayed before it goes to the San Francisco Art Museum.

In recognition of the Senior Citizens Month groups of Campfire Girls from District 4, which includes all schools in the Campbell High School District, will provide decorations during the month as part of their many community service projects.

Refreshments will be served during the open house, and will be prepared by the members honoring their ethnic backgrounds.

OUR OWN GERMAN BAND---Members of the Campbell High School "Sauerkraut Band" will be on hand Saturday, May 10 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Campbell Shopping Center, Winchester and Latimer Ave., as part of the three day gala shopping sale and entertainment planned by the center. An art show planned by the Home Art Gallery, directed by Bea Griffin featuring over 35 artists work and a dance exhibit by the Judy Wilkins School of the Dance on noon Saturday are only part of the many events that are being planned.



LITTLE LEAGUE SEASON OPENS---Campbell Little League began the 1969 season last Saturday at the Rosemary Field. Participating in the opening ceremonies was Craig Morton, professional football player, who played Little League ball in Campbell in 1955.

Another guest was Don Larson, former member of the New York Yankees, the only man to pitch a perfect game in a World Series. In the above photo Larson is going to the mike to speak to the 450 boys assembled on the field. Morton tossed out the first ball.

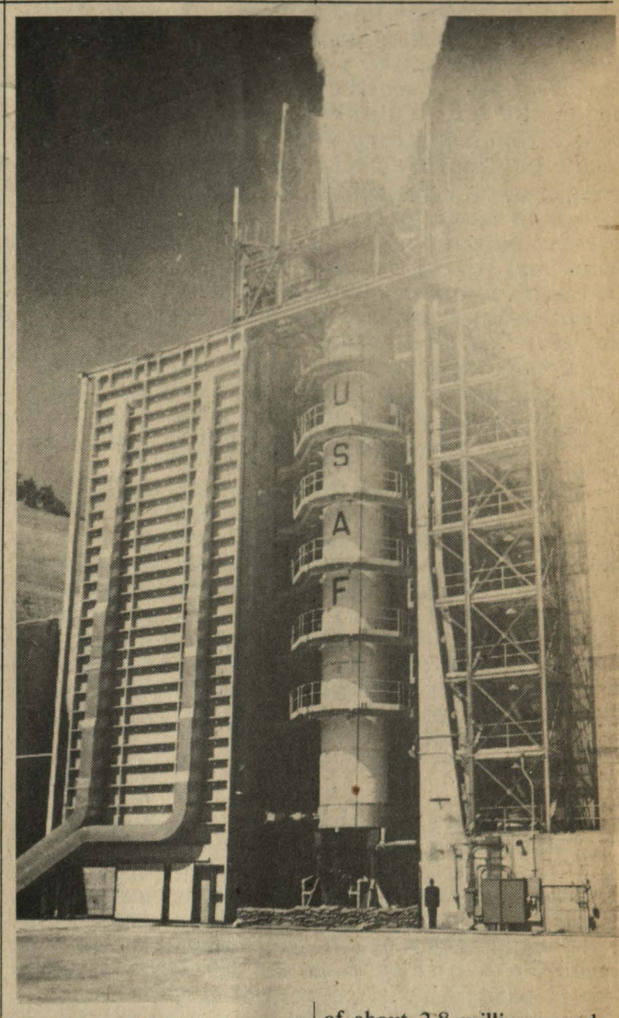
Help wanted by Moreland Bobby Sox League

Moreland Bobby Sox Softball league has started its third season this year with 12 teams of girls between the ages of 9-15, and as a result is on the lookout for volunteers to help with the many and varied chores of helping to keep the League running smoothly.

Senior citizens or teen-agers with time on their hands, would be more than welcome to join this active group. Men and women at least 16 years old who "enjoy making decisions and don't mind loosing friends" would find the job of umpire especially rewarding and exciting. Ben Reuwsaat at 252-1761 will furnish details.

Ed Blandford, 244-0625 would welcome help on the Moreland's field maintenance committee and the fund raising activities need more help. Anne Correggio, 257-2740 is the person to call to get involved with that project.

So, don't just sit there saying "there's nothing to do"--the Moreland Bobby Soxers have plenty for everyone and need help.



IT WAS THIS BIG GUY'S MOTOR THAT DID IT---Those residents who became a wee bit "shook up" last Saturday at about 10 a.m. by the big "earthquake" noise probably by now know what caused it. But for those who still don't know, it was the motor for the little gem that did the trick.

According to United Technology Center, a powerful solid-propellant rocket motor being developed for space use was successfully test fired for the Air Force at Coyote by UTC on Saturday.

Saturday's test was the first for the new motor.

UTC is an associate contractor of the Titan III program and is the designer, developer and producer of the 120-inch-diameter, 10½-foot-long solid propellant rocket motor segment.

According to the officials, a pair of these motors operating simultaneously, will give Titan III-M a lift-off thrust of about 2.8 million pounds. UTC is a division of United Aircraft Corporation.

LEADING HITTER---Milt Murata led all hitters last Saturday when Marvin downed West Valley College 7-6 in 11 innings. The Viking second sackman belted out four hits in five trips to the plate to boost his season average to .368.

FISH THAT NEARLY DROWNED, THE (10 minutes COLOR)
A soviet-produced film in which a fish describes incidents that take place in the aquarium – the life habits of a fish; how it builds its nest; and how an accident nearly causes its death. This film is also useful in primary science classes.

MIDDLE AGES: THE RISE OF FEUDALISM (20 min. B&W)
Covering the period from the 4th century Roman Empire to the time of the Crusades, this film considers the origins of the feudal system and looks at the nature of feudal society, the workings of the feudal system, and relationships of the Crusades to the growth of Medieval Europe.
RED

RED, WHITE, AND BLUE (26½ minutes, COLOR)
The film raises the question of overt patriotism in a busy, commercial United States and asks why people have become too busy to display their flags. It examines people's patriotic feelings and the changes which have taken place in its outward display.

ROGERS PASS (28 minutes, COLOR)
This film tells the story of Rogers Pass and the part it has played in uniting a nation. British Columbia was about to secede from Canada and join the United States unless a transportation link could be found which would unite it with the rest of Canada across the mountains. The irony of it was that a pass was discovered not by a Canadian, but by an American. Today a highway unites Canada, a monument a hundred years later to its discoverer Major A. B. Rogers.

SCANDINAVIA--NORWAY, SWEDEN, DENMARK (22 Minutes, COLOR)
Points out how the people of Scandinavia – through cooperative action and industrial development – have created a high standard of living. Shows their physical geography, natural resources, agriculture, commerce and industry.

SKI (14 Minutes, COLOR)
All across Canada there are well equipped ski areas, with competent instructors. Canada has everything to offer: a long season, powder snow, and sparkling days too glorious to spend indoors. Take to the hills and make your mark on Canada's beckoning slopes.

CONGRESSMAN AT WORK, THE (22 Minutes, COLOR)
By examining the work of Congressman Olin Teague, the film shows many of the barriers that Congress must overcome to work efficiently. The wide range of Congressional work is effectively depicted. The student becomes aware of the Congressman's basic dilemma.

DAG HAMMARSKJOLD (25½ Minutes, B & W)
An intimate biographical study of one of the world's great humanitarians – as seen through the eyes of those whose lives touched his during youth. This examination of the man who was someday to be Secretary-General of the United States offers an excellent opportunity to focus sharply on the interaction between men and their time.

FRONTIERS OF THE MIND (25 Minutes, B & W)
No longer is man content with the knowledge that his brain controls his body; science is now involved in behavior research that explores the mind. The film explains the purpose and benefits to science of such exploration – involving experiments with chemicals, drugs, electrode implantation, etc.

GERMANY TODAY: FATHERS AND SONS (26 Min. B&W)
An examination of the barrier of silence which has developed between the generations of Germans who fought the war and the postwar generation. The film provides insight into the reasons for the rise of Hitler, reviews the war-time days and period of reconstruction, and shows the present unparalleled prosperity. Rare newsreel reveals changing attitude.

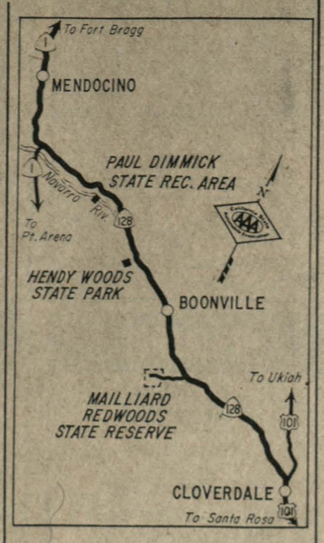
Automobile Association lists features of brief scenic trip



It's just over 60 miles from Cloverdale to the Mendocino Coast along the Highway 128 and every mile is packed with relaxing scenery.

This is rural country with clear running creeks that invite you to splash in their waters, the Navarro River, a real country store, four splendid state parks, sunny meadows and at the end the magnificent Pacific Ocean sends its waves crashing ashore. The California State Automobile Association says Highway 128 makes an ideal weekend trip.

From Cloverdale the road twists up over the rounded hills and down to the ranchlands of Anderson Valley. Cows and horses graze in rolling fields dotted with oaks, madrones, weathered barns and white frame farmhouses.

Maillaird Redwoods State Reserve is north of Yorkville and three and a half miles off 128. The turnoff sign says "Ornbaun Springs" (once a soda springs resort) and "Anchor Bay". More than 240 acres of redwood, fir, oak and madrone invites the traveler to get out and stretch.

Have you ever heard "Boontling" spoken? Stop in the fair village of Boonville where this curious phenomenon began at the turn of the century and you might hear a few words. It is a dialect developed by local ranchers and it is still taught to children in the town school.

Boonville is home of the Mendocino County Fair and Apple Show held annually in September.

One of the finest parks along Highway 128 is Hendy Woods State Park with splendid virgin redwoods, sunny meadows and the sparkling Navarro River. The 95 campsites are scattered through the thick forest, so campers are secluded from their neighbors. In spring and early summer the Navarro has pools deep enough for swimming and jumping off the rocks. Late summer means wading only.

Two groves of big virgin redwoods are preserved here: Little Hendy and Big Hendy. It's a peaceful walk along the soft forest floor, surrounded by lacy ferns, green sorrel and butterflies.

Everyone will enjoy a stop at the Flood Gate Store on the road between Hendy Woods and Navarro. This is a true country store, with all kinds of provisions for sale and souvenirs of the pioneer lumbering and ranching days on display outside under the trees: rusty old chain saws, axes, branding irons, lanterns, spurs and farming tools.

If you want to know about lumber and forestry practices stop at the Redwood Region Conservation Council Demonstration Forest one mile from Navarro. It was established by the redwood industry and has a 600-yard self-guiding nature trail.

A popular overnight stop for campers is Paul M. Dimmick State Recreation Area, about six miles inland from the coast. Although small–only 12 acres–it has 28 campsites and 12 picnic units where campers can escape the fog and cold winds off the coast.

Gigantic bluffs, a wild rocky coast, strong winds and a powerful sea herald the end of the Navarro River and Highway 128. Navarro Beach is wonderful for walking–it is strewn with huge chunks of driftwood, there are lots of shorebirds at the river mouth and the spectacular cliffs are decked with wild flowers.

TONS OF TRASH--Above was a typical street scene in town last Friday when the Green Valley Disposal Co., as part of its franchise agreement with the City of Campbell, had a free trash pickup. Residents were required to place the trash in boxes or bundles on the curb. According to the disposal firm, more than 350 tons of trash were picked up during the day. Green Valley holds two free trash pickups annually.

County conducts disaster drill Friday, May 2

The County's top team for Civil Defense will conduct an exercise or drill Friday (May 2) to check their operational plans for providing lifesaving services in a major disaster.

During the day-long event County Executive Howard Campen, and the heads of the County's law enforcement, firefighting, communications, public utilities, medical and other emergency services will work at the County Communications Center.

Other county personnel will provide a realistic situation for the exercise by telephoning reports of emergencies and disaster situations to the team members.

Campen and the other chiefs of emergency services will determine the action which should be taken to handle each emergency.

The County's Civil Defense Coordinator, Frank E. Holt, reports that this is the first such exercise conducted by the County government, however, San Jose and Mountain View have held such exercises within the past year.

The training session will be under the direction of Henry Meyer, Training Coordinator, from the University of Southern California Civil Defense Training Program. The exercise is part of the Federal Office of Civil Defense program for training local officials to handle disaster situations.

Holt explained that the exercise will be confined to the County officials and staff members at the Communications Center.

AT CONFERENCE

Dave Valkenaar, Don Stefani and Gerald Eller, president, vice-president and director of the Campbell Municipal Employees Association recently attended the leadership conference sponsored by the Associated California Employees at Asilomar Conference Grounds in Pacific Grove. The conference, held annually, is given to provide leadership training to key people in public employee organizations.

PIECE BY PIECE--One of the panels of the national monuments mosaic being constructed at the Forest Hill School, receives another piece of tile from Bryan Kopecki while Alice Valdez and Mrs. John Walters, mosaic chairman, look on. Three panels will be completed before the end of school and a dedication ceremony is being planned.

Patriotism lives at Forest Hill School

A giant four by 24 foot mosaic is being constructed by the 800 children at Forest Hill School, 4420 McCoy Ave. Each child will put in pieces of the tile.

The patriotic theme of "National Monuments" was selected by children and won out over other interesting topics such as "Playground Activities", "Outer Space" and "California History". When completed, the mosaic will beautify a blank wall in front of the school. It will be a colorful panorama showing the United States and California Flags, the Washington Monument complete with cherry blossoms, the Lincoln Memorial, the Capitol Building, the Statue of Liberty, an American Eagle and the Liberty Bell.

The school hopes to perform several tasks by using one of art's oldest processes to portray the symbols of the founding of our country.

Members of the mosaic committee include Mrs. John Walters, parent chairman; Mrs. Robert Braun, parent chairman; Lisa Eubank, student, grade 4; Craig Rouse, student, grade 5; Louie Albanese, vice principal and Fred Peterson, principal.

The tile pieces have been donated by various Campbell merchants.

Signs can go on fence at park

Campbell-Moreland Pony League will have the concession rights for at least one year at Rincon Park where the ball field is located.

Advertising signs can also be painted on the inside of the ball park fence for a two-year period.

But before the Council could approve the request of Chuck Cannady, of the Pony League, for the signs on the fence, a previous action of the Council denying the signs had to be rescinded.

Cannady told the Council that the ball park installation was one of the finest in the country but it had been a costly undertaking and that the league desperately needed the income from the concessions and the signs on the fence to operate.

The league will open at Rincon Park on Saturday, May 10. Cannady also thanked the Council for the cooperation that had been given the league.

Students should get permits now for WVC classes

Those wishing to attend summer session classes at West Valley College should obtain registration permits from the College Admissions Office as soon as possible after May 1, according to Donald R. Ziegler, dean of admissions.

Actual registration will be held on June 23, and classes will begin the next day, Ziegler said, with some 100 different courses being offered in a wide variety of subjects, in both day and evening classes.

Students who do not already have a West Valley College permanent identification card must bring their Social Security card with them when applying for registration permits, he said.

Students who do not live in the West Valley College district but wish to attend classes here, must obtain releases from the district in California in which they reside.

Out-of-State students will be accepted

College official prepares manual for iob program

Mrs. Betty Cunningham, coordinator of Work Experience Education at West Valley College, has been asked to prepare a manual on "How to Start A Work Experience Program at the College Level" for the convention of the California Association of Work Experience Educations to be held May 1-3 at Long Beach.

Mrs. Cunningham was selected to prepare the manual because of her current operation of the highly successful Work Experience Program at West Valley College.

She is acting as liaison between the college and the Campbell Chamber of Commerce for the upcoming work experience program this summer, and has for the past several semesters operated a half-time work experience and half-time college training program for her students with major industries in the area.

The manual to be prepared by Mrs. Cunningham will include information on funding, attendance requirements, transfer of credits and examination of different kinds of programs.
